Dear Judge Montali:

I am a claimant in case no. 19-30088 (claim 2017), and I apologize in advance if by writing this letter I am somehow circumventing proper legal channels as I am ignorant on such matters and without legal representation.

I was on the video conference call that you presided over on March 25th. I wasn't sure if I was supposed to be in that call because my claim had a comment next to it saying "objection has been removed", and I wasn't exactly sure what that meant for me and my claim. However, you addressed it early in the call by asking legal counsel (Dara Silveira) if those claims that had been settled out of court or had objections removed would be issued checks in a timely manner - and she responded yes. At that point, relieved, I realized I did not need to be in that conference call, so I excused myself after a few more minutes.

A month has now passed, and I have heard nothing from opposing counsel. I've conveyed all this information to you in order to ask this one question - who holds the parties accountable in fulfilling what they've agreed to do? As I mentioned, I am not an attorney, so I apologize if this is a silly question. It could be argued accountability is at the crux of our legal system (that may be a little dramatic), I just don't know how it's enforced. In any case, thank you for any help or advice you can give on this matter.

Thank you,
